

VALUABLE COLOUR

'To me, she is the perfect cow!' Pit Bosseler is very clear when we ask him about Wilt Brasilia VG-89. The breeder of the family farm Holstein Bosseler (65 milking cows) in Luxemburg mentions various reasons. 'Brasilia is perfect for me because she is red & white, belongs to a good family, functions very well in our free-stall barn, milks easily in the robot, and is also suitable for participating at shows.' About his first reason, the red colour, Bosseler shares: 'While we milk primarily Holsteins, we have enough red & whites to know that Red Holsteins sell well above average. For marketing, the red colour is certainly a plus.' Bosseler, together with Antony's

Belle-Vue Holsteins, purchased the Jacot daughter Brasilia from Ferme Wilt in France. Brasilia's foundation dam, Suez daughter Bunte EX-94, became the National Senior Champion 2003 in Germany and All-German 2008 for Mox Holsteins. The line from Bunte to Brasilia traces via daughters of the RC bulls Rubens, Kite and Brunner Mr Top. Brasilia, just like her foundation dam Bunte, displays show quality. This is proven by the picture, taken during her current, third lactation. New talent in on the way: Bosseler: 'Out of Brasilia, we have a nice Agent son. This year she is pregnant with sexed Army-RC.'

Wilt Brasilia scored EX-92
for her youthful udder.
